Education Worker

£14,815 per annum

28 hrs/wk (to be worked over four days) including occasional weekends

Education Worker on a busy community farm. Perfect for someone who is passionate about outdoor education and who will enjoy the challenge of working with young people & animals.

The Farm has been established since 1982 and with a largely volunteer team aims to be a focus for community activity, primarily in the three London Boroughs of Barking and Dagenham, Redbridge and Havering.

Our staff team are friendly, committed, resourceful people and we are looking for a person with similar qualities. We are looking for someone who has an active interest in farming, gardening and the natural environment and has the ability to work with children of mixed abilities.

The post holder will be working with children from early years up to Tertiary education students. They will be delivering curriculum based educational activities at the Farm including taking our mobile farm to schools. They will also work on our informal educational activities such as school holiday Farmer for a Day sessions.

Duties will include developing curriculum based educational activities around farming, gardening and the natural environment, marketing our education offering to schools and other groups, developing and maintaining links organisations and building and providing supervision for a team of education volunteers to help deliver activities. The role is also to explore new educational activity opportunities and develop new programmes to broaden our range of activities.

The post holder will be willing to undertake appropriate training, drive farm vehicles and any other duty consistent with the running of the Farm.

Recruitment will be subject to the outcome of an enhanced DBS check.
